NO. 7

*Her hair's a mass of golden light!
Her eyes as dark as any night!
Her step is light, her smile is bright,
As lightly she goes tripping;
And when the darkness falls at night
Her charms lose none of their delight,
For by the light of National Light
That girl is simply ripping.*

NATIONAL LIGHT OIL

An abundance of bright, clear light is always assured when "NATIONAL LIGHT" is used in the lamps.

No charred wicks, sooty chimneys or bad odor.

Used in Incubators it is insurance against death to the little chicks. No fumes to clog egg shell pores and smother the unhatched chick. No fumes to kill chicks in the brooder. Uniform heat prevents eggs from becoming baked and from becoming chilled in incubation.

For oil heaters and the kitchen oil stove it is the ideal smokeless fuel.

This store is at your service with the best of everything.

HALIFAX RELIEF FUND

The Hon. C. R. Mitchell, Provincial Treasurer, Honorary Treasurer of the Halifax Relief Fund, announces that the Committee in charge of the campaign are doing splendid work. As in the Victory Loan canvasses, their unselfish and patriotic efforts have met with a ready response from the public generally. It is only fair to say, however, that better results were expected from some parts of the province than have been forthcoming. The appalling nature of the disaster has been further added to by recent disclosures which show that the loss and suffering are intense. Each one, therefore, should recognize his individual responsibility in the matter and help the Fund by a prompt remittance.

To correct any misunderstanding that may exist with reference to collecting and forwarding contributions, it may be again stated, that all Banks or other organizations or individuals authorized to collect for the fund, have been instructed to send their remittances, from time to time, to the central committee for deposit to the credit of the Provincial Treasurer's Halifax Relief Fund, out of which payments are forwarded to the central fund at Halifax. Payments made to the Provincial Treasurer direct will be acknowledged by official receipt. Remember, it is not yet too late to give. The fund is still open.

MOTOR VEHICLE ACT, LICENSE FEES, 1918.

The following regulations respecting payment of license fees for automobiles take effect on and after January 1st, 1918.

1. $5 in the case of a motorcycle, and for any other motor vehicle according to the length of the wheel base in inches as follows:

For motor vehicles not exceeding 100 inches.....	$15.00
Exceeding 100 inches but not exceeding 105 inches.....	17.50
Exceeding 105 inches but not exceeding 110 inches.....	20.00
Exceeding 110 inches but not exceeding 115 inches.....	22.50
Exceeding 115 inches but not exceeding 120 inches.....	25.00
Exceeding 120 inches but not exceeding 125 inches.....	27.50
Exceeding 125 inches but not exceeding 130 inches.....	30.00
Exceeding 130 inches but not exceeding 135 inches.....	32.50
For every motor vehicle exceeding 135 inches.....	35.00

2. The foregoing fees shall include the cost of one set of number plates.
3. The fee, payable after October 1 in any year, shall be one-half of the fee above prescribed.
4. Fire engines and fire patrol apparatus, police patrol and municipal owned ambulances shall be exempt from payment of the above fees, but such motor vehicles shall be registered and number plates issued on payment of fee of one dollar for each pair of number plates on filing of the statement required under section 3 of "The Motor Vehicle Act."

There has been a big demand for hog screenings, which the Government is selling in car lots.

OFF TO THE WAR

There was a large crowd at the station to bid the boys farewell, when they left for Calgary to report for military service.

Seven men from Monitor and district reported to Headquarters this week, 3 on Monday, 2 on Tuesday and 2 Thursday.

Those who went were: Jack Bishop, C. E. Blackley, C. W. Harrison, Lyle Hayes, C. Hermonson, J. Mitts, and R. L. Walker. Four of them have entered the Flying Corps, and should give a good account of themselves in that branch of military service.

NOAD - EVANS

On Tuesday, afternoon, Jan. 8th, Miss W. Evans and Mr. T. H. Noad were united in the bonds of Holy Matrimony. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Evans. The bride, who was attired in blue holland silk, was given away by her father, Wallace Willey attending as best man. The happy couple after a sumptuous repast, departed amid showers of rice and good wishes for their new home. The Rev. W. S. Wickenden was the officiating clergyman.

The Squire's Sweetheart

"Hilary!" she said. "I don't know where you have sprung from; but Heaven must have sent you. She has had a very bad attack. The worst yet. I was praying I might find someone to take a telegram message for me to Sarney's shop in the village where there is a call office. I want Mr. Langton to come at once. 4713, Mayfair. Oh, Hilary dear, how glad I am to see you!"

Her joy was rather for the opportuneness of the messenger than for him personally, yet his heart leaped and sang though he tried to keep it grave and sorrowful as befitted. The message he was carrying as he ran on his way up hill and down dale to the village he had passed through a couple of miles back.

It took some little time to get on to Mr. Langton, but finally he succeeded. Mr. Langton would come at once.

He raced back again at headlong speed. The way was too long for him, but he could not shorten it except by putting on a sprint; and it was really an incredibly short space of time till he stood at the cottage door, panting, while he gave Margaret Mr. Langton's message.

"She is a little better," the girl said in a whisper. "I have never seen her so exhausted before. I was afraid she was going to slip through my fingers; but now she is sleeping easily."

Her bosom heaved and he saw the lift of it through the muslin of her dress; her voice was suddenly lost in tears. She was not looking herself. The long anxiety had told on her fresh and joyous beauty.

"Poor Hilary!" she said in a trembling voice. "You have been killing yourself running my message. I am going to get you some tea. Afterwards you will tell me how you came to be here."

He sat down on the green seat under the apple tree to get cool. Margaret came and went, talking to him in low tones. Her mother still slept. Presently, when she awoke, Hilary might see her. He was not to be too frightened, or to let her see that he thought she looked ill.

She spread a cloth on the little green table and brought out the cups and saucers, a loaf and a pat of butter, honey in a glass dish, and other things. Hilary noticed that her hands looked work-worn. Somehow he loved them better than when they had been white and delicate. He could hardly keep himself, in full view of the road, from taking them into his own and kissing them.

The girl had assumed some new majesty to him. He approached her with a feeling of adoration. Was this—could this be the Margaret with whom he had taken part in many childish pranks? It was she who led the way into all the scrapes, he who followed. Once she had refused to put gentles on a hook when they went fishing and he had been contemptuous of her. She had had a few feminine imitations. Cattle alarmed her unless she was sure of them. He had once forced her by his taunts to cross a field where there was a bull and the heat had chased her. What a merciless young savage he had been!

The scared look was passing away from her eyes while she talked in a low voice, sweet as the running laughter of the birds about them. She could not get over the marvel of Hilary's having discovered them by such mere chance at a moment when she needed help so badly. "It was a very bad fright," she said plaintively. "You ought not to have to bear it alone," Hilary said.

"I have become an expert nurse," she answered. "No one else would care so much."

"There is only one other person," said Hilary. "Have you noticed how tired and old-looking Mr. Langton has become?"

"I have not noticed anything," said Margaret. "I have been thinking too much of her. Is it not a sweet spot?"

But we shall have to leave it as the summer advances. Even as it is, though we are only half-way down the ravine, we do not get enough air. I will not go back to Margolds where she was so unhappy, where they were so hateful about her."

"The Squire thinks you should come back. So does Mr. Fritchard. So does everybody. You will like Mrs. Meyrick."

Margaret's eyes rested on him quietly.

"I shall have to go some time," she said.

"With me," said Hilary; and the impetuous color flamed in his face. "You are not going to elude me again."

WATERY BLISTERS FORMED ERUPTIONS

On Hands. Caused Disfigurement, Itching and Burning. Cuticura Healed.

"The trouble which I had affected my hands only. It first came in watery blisters under the skin, and if they were scratched they broke, causing a mass of sore eruptions that caused disfigurement, itching, burning and loss of sleep. The trouble lasted about one year and after using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment for about three months I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Aileen Sweet, Main St., Eastman, Que.

Dearest, am I a stick or a stone? Your mother was always gentle to me. I shall ask her to plead my cause."

She lifted her hand.

"It is the motor," she said. "I did not think it could have been here so soon. He must have raced."

She went away from Hilary to the garden gate, and looked up the hill. The big motor was just gliding down it.

"She has been very bad," she said, meeting Mr. Langton. "I thought she was going. She is better, sleeping quietly."

The harassed look deepened on his face.

"Poor child!" he said gently; "and you were alone?"

"Through the worst of it. Then Hilary came."

"I thought I recognized his voice over the telephone. I am glad you sent for him at last."

She did not say she had not sent for him. It was no time for explanations.

With a nod to Hilary Mr. Langton passed into the cottage. He sat down by the sofa on which Lady South lay, awake now, and felt her pulse. She was very pale, as she lay with an exhausted air upon the sofa cushions, her features oddly sharpened, against the red of the sofa back, purple shadows about her eyes and lips. The hand he took into his was cold and damp.

"Was it very bad?" he asked tenderly.

"It was terrible. My poor girl! How she suffers for me!"

"Do you know that Hilary Strangeways is with her?"

"She had sent him for you. I am so glad for her. He came in the nick of time. They were always such friends."

They are more than friends, Mavis. They are lovers. Margaret has kept poor Hilary in suspense. Perhaps she was afraid of herself. She refused not write nor let me tell him this address. There they go. Margaret has taken him down towards the wood."

"She will be safe with Hilary when I am gone."

A strange excitement came into Mr. Langton's face.

"They are not to wait for that," he answered. "I said to myself when I got Margaret's message that this thing must be put to a stop. You have been cruel to me, Mavis. I'm going to take care of you whether you will or not. For whatever time is left to us you shall be cared for as woman was never cared for before. You owe so much to me. What a life it has been!"

"A sick woman, a dying woman," she said feebly. "What have I to do with marriage?"

"That is as God wills it," he said. "If there were any other way than marriage I would take it, and please you to the bitter end."

"I have too much pity," she said, "to sadden your life with a woman like me. Why should you be chained to an invalid's sofa—at your age?"

"Because it is the one possible happiness life holds for me," he said, "and for you. Here I am, your slave, for the time that is left to us."

She was too weak to protest much. She let him take her hand and hold it in his quietly, while the joy flashed into his weary face.

"I would not consent," she said; "only for poor Margaret; only that it will not be for long; only that . . ."

"I accept it," he said, "for Margaret's sake; for Hilary's sake; for my own sake. As for its not being for long, well I shall fight to keep my wife. Anyhow—if it was only for an hour you will be mine. That is enough."

A new rate of license fees for autos is now in force, in this province. The rating is derived at from the length of the wheel base, and not from the engine bore, as heretofore. Under the new rate owners of Fords will pay the lowest fee.

Further extensions of the areas set apart in Western Canada as forest reserves are much to be desired. No such reserves have been made since 1913, though very considerable areas have been found upon examination to be chiefly valuable for forest purposes.

The whole subject of the exportation of milk from Canada

A good illustration of what printer's ink can accomplish when applied to an honest and popular idea is shown in the results obtained from advertising
Province of Alberta Savings Certificates.

A small sum was set aside by the Provincial Government for the purpose of familiarizing the public with this excellent savings plan. Advertisements were inserted from time to time in the daily and weekly papers of the province and also in the various farm journals of Western Canada, with the result that savings certificates were sold in five provinces in Canada, four states of the Union and a small amount even in far-off China.

The eastern and western extent of this territory is eight thousand miles, while its northern and southern limits extend from the Peace River in the north to the State of Kansas.
With all due regard to the attractive form of investment, it must be admitted that without the wide publicity that it received, the above successful results could hardly have been hoped for.

The Provincial Treasurer is fully satisfied with the success of the plan to date, as considerable amounts of money have been deposited in the Provincial Treasury.

In the past season a number of serious forest fires have occurred from the spread of settlers' clearing fires in Alberta.
A revision of the Prairie Fires
Ordinance, which does not fit the conditions in the forested northern portion of the province, is urgently needed. In all the other forest provinces in Canada, the permit system of regulating settlers' clearing fires is wholly or partially in effect and is giving most gratifying results. Alberta would benefit greatly by falling into line.

Survey Forest Resources

Ontario Commission Has But Meager Details at Hand

The commission of conservation hopes soon to undertake a survey of the forest resources of Ontario similar to the investigations it has already made in British Columbia and Saskatchewan. Only the most fragmentary data respecting the forests of Ontario are now available although there is a vast amount of detailed information in the possession of timber owners, government officers and railways which could probably be secured. The commission is handicapped in undertaking such an investigation by the scarcity of competent foresters.

At present Ontario has the largest fire protection organization on the continent. Last year at the height of the fire season, its staff consisted of about 1,000 men.

A Solar Plexus Blow

Money advanced by the United States to the now non-existent provisional Russian government, is for the most part still hoarded in the form of supplies prepared or preparing for shipment, and it will remain here for a while. This is the word from Washington and it is relieving. To be deprived of this promising meek ticket just as General Kaldine and his Cossacks are preparing to cut off bread and coal from the Bolsheviks is likely to prove a sad blow to the fattening hopes of that mixture of idleness and anarchy and treachery in "government"—New York World.

Rose From the Ranks

General Verkhovsky, who was the last of the distinguished soldiers who served as ministers of war in Russia, was popular with the army owing in all probability to the fact that he had served in the ranks. In his early years, as the result of some conflict with authority, he left the military college and entered the army as a private, in which capacity he went through the Manchurian campaign. He was a simple colonel on the outbreak of the present war, and when Rumania joined the allies saw most of the fighting following upon Falkenhayn's "break through."

The largest tree in the world stands at Mascal, near the foot of Mount Etna, its trunk being 204 feet in circumference. It is called "The Chestnut Tree of a hundred Horses," because of a legend that a queen and her court once took shelter from the rain under its branches.

Coal Mine Investigation

Mine Disasters Believed to Be Due to Geological Bumps

George S. Rice, the well-known eastern mining expert, called in by the provincial government to investigate the "bumps" in the Crow's Nest coal mining field, held responsible for disasters, including one last spring when more than a score of lives were lost, has made his report. The most important of his findings is that he recommends a permanent commission be formed to investigate and review the evidence collected by members of the commission, the inspectors of mines and others, having on its membership a geologist, a mining engineer, a chemist and an experienced mining operator. Mr. Rice says the "bumps" are believed to be caused by subsidence of the roof in certain areas under rigid rocks, leaving a great unsupported span of rock stratum. When one of these gives way it means the hammer-like blows of thousands of tons of rock striking on the immediate roof of flexible stratum overlying the mine, which imparts the blow downward, breaking the timber, causing extensive falls in the mine, and sending rock tremors through the strata.

Germany's Nemesis

German Militarism Already Defeated by the Economic Forces Ranged Against It

The German rush into Northern Italy is a showy political success. It inflates pride and makes the lusty singing of "Deutschland über Alles," but it will not fill German stomachs, nor will it furnish Germany with the raw materials for which they are starving. German militarism is not merely discredited, it is already defeated by the economic forces ranged against it. Germany has brought military victory with financial ruin. The Kaiser has ridden in triumph through Brussels, Belgrade, Warsaw and Bukharest. What does that avail him while an unbreakable wall of steel bars his way to the heart of France, and while Great Britain and the United States hold the ocean roads? With every month of war Germany's wealth must become more assured. Militarism is already out at elbow. When peace is signed it will be in the bankruptcy court. After that, democracy may be tried to prevent its recrudescence.—London Daily Express.

Children suffering from worms soon show the symptoms, and a mother can detect the presence of these parasites by the writhings and fretting of the child. Until expelled and the system cleared of them, the child cannot regain its health. Miller's Worm Powders are prompt and efficient, not only for the eradication of worms, but also as a toner up for children that are run down in consequence.

Home Canned Vegetables

Reports that there is danger of poisoning from vegetables preserved by the cold pack method have been placed in the category of enemy propaganda by Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the U. S. S. national emergency food garden commission. "The cold pack method has been in use for five years and neither death nor serious illness has resulted from food canned according to directions," Pack said. "Home canned goods are safe and necessary."

Parcels for Prisoners

Send One Parcel Every Three Months to War Prisoners

According to new regulations concerning the forwarding of parcels to prisoners of war in Germany, other than officers, recently received from the prisoners of war department, London, England, relatives of prisoners will be allowed to forward direct one parcel every three months. A coupon for that purpose must first be obtained from the central committee of prisoners of war, and application for this coupon made direct by the relative to prisoners of war department, 14-16 Cockspur Street, London, England. Everyone must bear in mind that no parcel can be forwarded without first obtaining this coupon.

Parcel must not weigh over eleven pounds, and may contain any of the following: Pipe, sponge, pencils, pomade, regimental badges, shaving brush, shaving soap, safety razor, mohair bootcases, pipe-lights, hosiery, one handkerchief, one stick, health salts, insecticide, braces or webbing belts, combs, hair brushes, cloth brushes, tooth brushes, buttons, chess, checkers, dominoes, hobbles, candles, medal ribbons, brass polish, molasses, muller.

Parcel liable to confiscation if other articles included.

A Man of Action

The Supreme Man for the Supreme Job

Two years ago the declared will of our elected representatives was clearly a will toward peace. Certain of us had a will toward war. Among the persons suspected of this will was Theodore Roosevelt. I followed him. I do not follow him in all his moods but I find that I am always following him in the mass of his acts. I shall go down to my grave believing that I am the greatest of all the men of my times, for action. He could sit in an inter-allied conference and produce a united political and military front, beyond any other man that lives, and I wish he were doing it. He could knock the heads of Britons and Americans and Frenchmen and Italians together, as he knocked the heads of capitalists and proletarians together in the anthracite coal fields, faster than anybody else. He is the supreme man for that supreme job. Send him, Mr. Wilson, send him—William Hard in the New Republic.

Persistent Asthma. A most distressing characteristic of this debilitating disease, is the persistence with which recurring attacks come to sap away strength and leave the sufferer in a state of almost continual exhaustion. No wisper precaution can be taken than that of keeping at hand a supply of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, famous as the most potent remedy for eradicating the disease from the tender air passages.

An Appreciation

Vice-chairman of American Railway Advisory Commission Pays Compliment to C.P.R.

For the last two years the Canadian Pacific Railway, in connection with the Pacific steamers of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services, has carried a very large proportion of the passengers from the United States to Russia, and as these passengers have included a great many American railroad men, who have been surprised at the excellence of the service, a remarkable volume of trade is developing, greatly to the benefit of Canada itself. Among these passengers was the American railway advisory commission, consisting of the leading railway experts of the United States, who travelled from Chicago to Vancouver, and thence to Yokohama via the Empress of Asia. Mr. Henry Miller, vice-chairman of this highly important commission, has written Vice-President G. M. Bosworth a letter of deep appreciation, in which, after referring to many individual courtesies along the route, he remarks: "You have good reason to be proud of your organization and service, and we take this method of thanking you heartily for your kindness and courtesy."

German Attacks

Behind the Lines

The Lesson Written in the Italian Drive

But even if a supreme disaster has been escaped in Italy it is essential that no allied statesman and no allied patriot should mistake the lesson there written. By every influence that she can exert Germany is attacking behind the lines and in the ranks of her enemies. The Anarchists, the Socialists, the Clericals, the Intellectual and the ignorant, the visionary thinker and the man without thought—all are seized upon by her. The Utopian ideals of some, the selfish cowardice of others—these are the lines through which Germany operates for the destruction of her enemies and the dissolution of the national unity of the countries who are fighting her.

Allied armies have now come to the support of Italy. We may hope that Venice is safe and the crest of the invasion is passed, but unless we recognize that the same forces which induced the Italian disaster are operating in France, in England and here at home in the United States we shall have at no distant date to confront another crash, another collapse like that which has taken place in Russia in totality and in Italy in part. Germany has lost the war so far as it is a military question. She cannot defeat the armies of her enemies. She can win only by corrupting the people behind the armies and portions of the armies themselves. Russian and Italian events should serve as a lesson to us; they should be final evidences of the way, and the one way, that the war may be lost. If they do serve, this end they may yet prove a beginning of defeat rather than the high water marks of the latest and most dangerous of all German campaigns.—New York Tribune.

What the Navy Has Done

Interesting Figures Concerning Exploits of Navy Given by Prime Minister

In the course of his eulogy of the services in the house of commons recently the Prime Minister stated that since the beginning of the war the navy has been transported across the seas under the navy's protection:

13,000,000 men; 2,000,000 horses; 25,000,000 tons of explosive and supplies; 50,000,000 tons of coal, oil and other fuel; 113,000,000 tons of food and other materials.

Our naval losses have been only 3,500 men, of whom 2,700 lost their lives through the action of the enemy.

The original expeditionary force numbered 160,000 men. Today the expeditionary force was over 3,000,000, the creation of which was "probably the greatest feat of military organization in the world."

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited.

Gentlemen,—Last winter I received great benefit from the use of MINARD'S LINIMENT in a severe attack of La Grippe, and I have frequently proved it to be very effective in cases of inflammation.

Yours,

Trans-Atlantic Air Voyages

Before the war is over, America will be delivering its aeroplanes at the front in Europe by having them fly across the Atlantic in flocks, is the opinion of Caproni, famous Italian inventor of the big machine of that name.

Caproni said recently in Paris that he expected one of his machines to cross the Atlantic before long, and that flights of squadrons across the ocean would become common later.

Relieves Stiff Neck

When you wake up with a stiff neck or sore muscles, strains or sprains, use Sloan's Liniment. No need to rub; it quickly penetrates to the seat of pain and removes it. Cleaner than musky plasters or ointments. It does not stain the skin or clog the pores. Always have a bottle handy for rheumatic aches, neuralgia, soreness, bruises and lame back. In fact, all external pain.

Generous sized bottles at your druggist, 25c., 50c., $1.00.

Classes for Canadians

Four Thousand Volunteer for Classes in English Military Camps

Four thousand Canadian soldiers have volunteered for classes which the Canadian military authorities are conducting at various English camps under the supervision of Sir Richard Turner, assisted by a representative committee. Instruction is given in all subjects desired, including business, agriculture, English and modern languages and classics. Officers not available for active service form the instructional staff, provided they were prominent in educational work in Canada. These classes are designed to form the basis of work which the Canadian universities planned for vocational training of the troops which Dr. T. J. O'Leary, of Alberta University, was appointed to organize.

English opinion holds that Canadian authorities are very advanced in all concerns affecting the welfare of the soldiers.

The Real Liver Pill.—A torpid liver causes a disordered system, mental depression, lassitude and, in the end, if care be not taken, a chronic state of debility. The very best medicine to arouse the liver to healthy action is Parmentier's Vegetable Pills. They are compounded of purely vegetable substances of careful selection and no other pills have their fine qualities. They do not gripe or pain and they are agreeable to the most sensitive stomach.

Berlin, Please Note!

Answering Lloyd George's anxious question how soon the United States and now moving across the Atlantic in a steady stream, number more than a million. Berlin papers please

M.H.C. Vocational Training

Commercial Clay Modelling One of Many Odd Courses Offered.
Special Cases

Commercial clay modelling supplementary to the decorator's art, will provide a future for some of the convalescent soldiers under the military hospital commission command who must be educated in new trades to maintain themselves.

The variety of occupations from which men came to the army may be made an indicator as to how elastic the training provided by the vocational classes of the military hospitals commission must be if it is to meet the demands of the maimed men.

Not every man can be made a machinist, even though the demand were infinitely greater than the supply. All practical education and experience cannot be scrapped. To satisfy the needs of the men, the courses must afford them an opportunity to follow a new occupation in some way related to their old work or inherent ability. The individual as well as the labor market must be taken into consideration.

The commission endeavors to give a man an opportunity to pursue any course in which it seems he has a reasonable chance of making himself independent. The result has been a great variety of odd vocations of which clay modelling is only one.

A GRAND MEDICINE FOR LITTLE ONES

Baby's Own Tablets are a grand medicine for little ones. They are a mild but thorough laxative; are absolutely safe; easy to give and never fail to cure any of the minor ills of little ones. Concerning them, Mrs.
Jas. S. Hestey, Gleason Road, N.B., writes:—"I have used Baby's Own fectly satisfactory for my little one."

The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine

British Advance Over the Route
Followed by Joshua's Spies

And they ascended by the south and came unto Hiphon. Thus does history go on repeating itself after 3,500 years. But the most satisfactory aspect of the British advance over the route followed by Joshua's spies is not its romantic spanning of the centuries. What rejoices the heart of the newspaper reader is that at last he is in a region of familiar names. After three years of barrage of Przemyśl, Sanjnyats, Ourcks, Gabriels, Sanniyats, Usambaras Strumas and Buezacas, a plain Gaza is like a sound-proof digout. The war loses part of its horror when, instead of Pozzaccchio one comes up on Beersheba, and the sight of Jerusalem is next only to that of the Statue of Liberty in the sense it gives one being home again. One can actually exchange confidences in the elevated without having to point to the names of the places concerned in lieu of pronouncing them, or feeling like a boy reciting a lesson in geography.—New York Evening Post.

It's a striking coincidence that the things a boy likes to throw at break fast.

A Stitch in Time

Five million dollars have been saved by the British war office in ten months by a new method of salvage of soldiers' clothing and equipment.
Clothing is collected at various depots, sorted out and sent to a central depot, where it is cleaned, patched and made up or reweaved into new khaki. Some three to four hundred women are engaged on the work of sorting and 45,000,000 articles have so far passed through their hands.

The Pallor of Anaemia Calls for Reconstructive Treatment

A NAEMIA comes on so insidiously that you may not realize its presence
until a look in your mirror dis-closes the pallor of the skin and of the gums, the lips and the eyelids.

You may be gaining in weight,
but the flesh is soft and flabby, and you are laying on fat rather than muscle. You find yourself disinclined to exertion, and greatly fatigued by any effort.
There is weakness, heart palpitation and a disturbance of the digestive system.

The failure of the organs of digestion to derive proper nutrition from the food you eat has reduced the number of red corpuscles in the blood. The blood has become thin and watery, and in spite of the food you eat you are literally starving to death.

As this process continues you must necessarily grow weaker and weaker, and the bodily organs become more and more in-

The Food Cure

Miss Alice Howes, 21 Haddington Street, Galt, Ont., writes:—"I was very ill with anaemia, could not sleep at night, and my appetite seemed entirely gone. I suffered in this way for nearly three years, and had treatment from two doctors in Toronto, where I was living at the time, but did not get any relief. I became completely run down, and as I did not see any immediate hopes of getting better, I went back to live with my mother in Galt. I thought, perhaps, the change of air might do me good. My mother saw that I was in a bad state, because my nerves were affected, and everywhere I went I used to take dizzy and fainting spells. My hands and limbs would become numb, I would see black specks before my eyes, and cold perspiration would come out on me. My mother had been taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with excellent results, and she advised me to do the same. But it is hard for me to take pills, so I went to a doctor in Galt instead. However, his treatment did me no good, so I at last decided to follow my mother's advice. I began taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and gradually found myself getting better. I soon was able to sleep at night without any difficulty, my appetite came back, and I began to gain back my natural color. After taking about twelve boxes of this medicine I was able to return to my work in Toronto. My friends there all noticed the improvement in my condition, and I am now stronger and healthier than I have been for a long, long time. I shall always recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food whenever I go, as I really think it is the best treatment obtainable for worn-out nerves and run-down system."

capable of performing their natural functions.

There can be no question that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the ideal treatment for anaemia or bloodlessness, because it supplies to the blood in condensed form the very elements from which new, rich blood is created. In this way it makes up for the deficiencies of the digestive system, and sets in motion the process of reconstruction.

As the blood improves in quality under this treatment the action of the heart is strengthened, circulation is better, appetite is sharpened, the digestive organs gradually resume their functions, and you gain in strength and vigor.

You will not use this food cure long before you realize the upbuilding influence on your system. With returning strength comes new hope and confidence.
The discouraging days will disappear from your life, and you will feel again the joy of health.

NORTH AMERICAN CONTINENT MUST SUPPLY BULK OF FOOD FOR ALLIES

EVERY EFFORT NECESSARY TO MEET DEFICIENCY

Geographical Position of Canada and the United States in Relation To the Allies, Makes It Imperative That This Continent Provide the Food Necessary for Support of Allied Cause

Until new ships, which are now under construction, become available as cargo carriers, the allies must depend upon the North American continent for wheat and flour. Europe must import not less than $50,000,000 bushels of wheat, or the equivalent in flour, before the next harvest.

The United States today has not one bushel more than would be required for normal consumption in that country, and Canada has only a surplus of 10,000,000 bushels.

There is wheat in Argentina, in Australia, in New Zealand, but without more shipping it cannot be moved. North America must supply almost the entire wheat needs of the allies at least for the next three or four months. The allied nations in Europe had completely exhausted all accessible reserves when the 1917 crop became available. Unfortunately the new harvest of France was less than half the production of a normal year before the war. The Italian crop was also much below the average. Both these countries have reduced their own stocks of foodstuffs from this continent, thus was anticipated and their needs will continue.

The geographical position of Canada and the United States in relation to the allies makes it imperative that this continent should provide the food which must be forthcoming during the next few months. Let us then clearly understand the situation. The essentials are:

1. The allies are in bed.
2. They have in their own countries only a fraction of the food required for their own people.
3. Until the shipping shortage is relieved several months hence, the allies must depend upon Canada and the United States to make up their deficiency of essential food supplies, including wheat.
4. Canada and the United States can only spare the needed supplies by reducing their own consumption by at least 20 per cent.
5. If Canada and the United States should fail to make up the ally's deficiency of food, the soldiers would have to go short and the whole allied cause might be endangered.
6. Individual effort, individual saving of individual spoonful of flour, individual economy in the use of bread and flour and individual substitution of other cereals for wheat alone can save the situation and give to the men at the front support which they must have.

A New Industry

Camphor is being grown in Florida. Since the outbreak of the war, it has been difficult to procure camphor from foreign sources which place the previous supply had almost entirely come. There are already large plantations being devoted to the growing of the tree which it has been proven, grows well in Florida. The largest plantation is reported to be the Statsum plantation of 2,000 acres in Putnam county.

One in Twenty-one Owns Auto
The number of registrations of automobiles in Saskatchewan has now reached 32,458. This means that there are the same number of cars in the province, or, placing the population at 700,000, one car to every 21 of the population. The fact that most of the car owners are farmers is a sign of the agricultural prosperity of the province.

How War Drove a Doubter to Belief in Immortality

The war put into my soul something that it has never harbored since the day when I took my first step alone—fear. Fear of what might happen to this country has turned me from a mild pacifist into a violent advocate of preparedness. Fear of what might happen to business made me lose my changes in these three years than ever before in my life. And recently there was added another fear, the fear of death.

The fear of God, I remember hearing once in church, is the beginning of wisdom. Perhaps that is true. Perhaps I needed this war to jog me out of my comfortable, unquestioned rut and make me think why I am here, and where I am going, and what it is all about. Perhaps the whole world needed it. Who can say?

It is not my own death that I have feared. I think I can say that without any self-deception, I have never feared death. I have feared the possible death of my boy. I visited him at the camp only a few Sundays ago. They let him out for a few hours, and where I was staying for a few hours and stay with him.

WHAT GERMANY WOULD PLAN TO DO IF SHE SHOULD WIN THE WAR

WOULD PUNISH THE WHOLE WORLD IF VICTORIOUS

If Hohenzollerns Attained Victory They Would Use It First to Crush People of Own Country Who Wish a Peaceful World, Then Impose Ruthless Military Rule the World Over

It is well that the allies should understand that when phrases like "Peace with reconciliation" and "Disarmament" are used in Germany, they mean no more than that for the time being, the fortune of war is not smiling on Germany. So it was a few months ago, when, on July 19 the German Reichstag, by a large majority, passed the now famous resolution, "So it is not now."

The resolution, which was passed by a large majority, passed the now famous resolution, "So it is not now." The resolution, which was passed by a large majority, passed the now famous resolution, "So it is not now."

able to subdue fate, and the result of its present attitude and endeavor will be what it need not have been at the outset, namely, defeat. If the estimate had only been willing to concede betimes a peace based on understanding it would have been saved the complete overthrow of Rumania, the submarine warfare, the Russian revolution and now the victory in Italy which has made the central European alliance so strong and close.

We need not multiply quotations. They would only confirm the impression that if Germany were to obtain victory, she would use it first to crush down those of her own people who wish for a peaceful world, and next to establish her autocratic domination on every part of the world. But if she cannot get victory, she is all for peace—peace with reconciliation. Her alternative policies are to punish the whole world if she is successful, to avoid punishment if she is beaten. She is like her own soldiers, who fail to know how to throw their hands and cry "Kamerad."

Tricks of a German Spy

An Old Russian Merchant Who Dealt in Damaged Laces

The successful spy is generally the least obvious person in the community. He endures no hardships. He may be a commercial traveler, a small tradesman, a waiter, a mechanic or a wanderer on a tramp.

One of the most successful German spies operating from Saxony was an old Russian merchant, who dealt in damaged laces and broken lots. He bought laces and embroideries from the manufacturers in Plauen and in St. Gall, Switzerland, and before the war had built up an excellent business in England. His business address was in Rotterdam, where his laces were waiting to be shipped to English customers.

The war broke out the German foreign office detailed one of its agents to take over the supervisory office of the Russian office in Rotterdam and employed the old merchant on English business. He made regular trips to England, and in due time gathered some very valuable information there.

At this agent was typical of hundreds of other agents who were while to describe his methods. He visited England on a Dutch passport, equipped with nothing more formidable than lace and broken laces, and two cases of cigarettes. The cigarettes in one case contained, imprinted in the paper covering, the chemical out of the invisible ink. The other case contained the invisible ink. These messages were developed by chemical treatment in Holland, and their purport sent by courier to the Dutch border, whence they were telegraphed to Berlin.

A great deal of important information concerning the enemy is relayed in this way through commercial houses in Switzerland, Holland, Denmark and Sweden.

German Dreams of Peace

German Workers Openly Avow that They Will Not Go Through Another Winter of War

The Tribuna publishes an interesting account of conditions in Germany, furnished by Signor Francesco Bellomo, an Italian who recently succeeded in making his escape from Germany. "The German people," he said, "dream of nothing but an immediate peace—it is an obsession with them—and they have fixed January next as the worst day for peace will come. German workers openly avow that they will not go through another winter of war; rather than endure the horrors of war, they would work in the military establishments. Large numbers of soldiers participated in a recent anti-war demonstration, in which hundreds of persons, including many soldiers, were killed and injured in the rioting. Demonstrations against the war are now being held in various and more serious throughout the country, and the growing frequency of air-raids on German towns is having a marked effect on the morale of the people."

For each bachelor who sighs because he is alone fully a dozen married men sigh because they are not.

Machine Gun as a Defence Weapon

Single One Can Easily Hold Up a Regiment Under Favorable Conditions

The present war has proven the machine gun the greatest defensive weapon yet developed. A single one can easily hold up an entire battalion, and under favorable circumstances an entire regiment.

The full value of the machine gun was apparently appreciated by Germany before the war began to a much greater extent than by any of the other European armies. With the outbreak of the war, each active and reserve regiment of the German army had six machine guns with ample in reserve to replace losses.

Since then Germany has maintained a steady program of increase in their number. Towards the end of 1914 Germany had undertaken to equip every unit engaged on the front with machine guns.

In 1915 the number of these 'killing machines' had increased from six to nine. A little later the number was again increased to 12.

Following the French attack on the Marne in September, 1915, every German battalion was equipped with six machine guns each, increasing thus the total of each regiment to 18.

Now Germany is rapidly completing a program that will give each regiment 24 machine guns.

Only one protection can be offered the infantry against the thousands and hundreds of thousands of losses that these guns can inflict and which is an artillery preparation exceeding anything which the present war has yet developed. Before infantrymen leap over the trenches they must be shelled by hundreds of thousands of shells.

Every inch of ground to be attacked where a machine gun might remain hidden.

This artillery preparation must not only be a scale to cover every inch of the surface of the ground but must be of an intensity to destroy steel and concrete shelters, machine gun nests, and a single machine gun left in place in one of these shelters can be mounted to the surface after the infantry had left its trenches and inflicted hundreds if not thousands of losses.

With the artillery preparation which the French have perfected they have demonstrated that it is mathematically possible to wipe out every machine gun before a single infantryman shows his head.

With the French method and with the use of shells, the modern infantry can face the German's new machine gun concentration with practical impunity.

But it means that America must have thousands of guns and millions of shells.—By Henry Wood, with the French Armies.

Anti-Submarine Bombs

Explode at Any Depth Is Claim of Inventor

As one method of dealing summarily with Germany's U-boats, an American inventor has proposed to explode at any desired depth, designated by a special type, designed to explode at any desired depth when thrown into the sea, says the Popular Mechanics magazine in an illustrated article. The missile would be dropped from an enemy boat or submarine chaser when an enemy boat was sighted beneath the water or connected by a light cable to a buoyant chamber that floats on the surface. As it sinks, the line, which is predetermined to break at a certain depth, then occurs activates the detonator and discharges the explosive. When submerged at any considerable depth, a submarine is under an enormous pressure. An explosion such as that of a high-power bomb, occurring in close proximity to it would cause it to collapse.

Tell the Whole Story

Lloyd George's statement that five German submarines were destroyed on Sunday afternoon was a thrill through Great Britain and the United States. This is the kind of news that all the allies need. There ought to be more of it, and there would be more of it if the censorship were relaxed. It is time to allow the full story to be told of the campaign against the submarines, in which the British and American navies have carried out with such brilliant results.—New York World.

Perhaps the world may owe you a living, but you will die of starvation if you sit down and wait for it to settle up.

Fight Against Weariness

One Road Leads to Victory, the Other to Defeat

We must fight against weariness. It is useless to us, neither writer, nor talker, nor thinker, being weary all we have won the war. We at home have one clear duty, namely, to support every means in our power, moral and material, our sons, who are bearing themselves so heroically before the enemy, and to encourage them. We have no right to be weary and we are at the paring of the ways.

One road leads to victory, the other to defeat. There are only two roads open to us, and we have got to choose between them. All talk about a third road through Stockholm, Rome or anywhere else is a deception of the enemy to save his own neck. Weariness won't help us to victory. Courage, resolution, endurance will. They are the qualities of the British and the French. They are the qualities of the British and the French. They are the qualities of the British and the French.

An inventor is a genius who discovers a lot of things that are already patented.

The special service last Sunday afternoon in the Church in observance of the National Day of Prayer was an impressive one. The crowded congregation entered into the solemnity of the occasion. Prayers were offered and specially prepared war hymns were sung heartily. Rev. J. E. Collins based his remarks upon "The Day of our Visitation" and the Rev. W. S. Wickenden spoke on "God's answer to the National Day of Prayer on the occasion of Solomon's dedication of the Temple." At the conclusion each soldier, reporting for service, was presented with a khaki New Testament and committed in prayer into God's keeping.

The offertory, which amounted to $22.90, was given in response to the Chaplains' Appeal for assistance in providing Canadian soldiers in camp with equipment for religious and social benefit.

There will be a Wrestling Match and Boxing bouts in the Big Hall tomorrow afternoon at 3.30.

Now is the time to order your new Ford, for spring delivery

The Ford is Now Considered a Necessity for Large-Scale Farming

WHETHER you are doing work on a large scale, or a small scale, you endeavor to reduce the delays of your farm machinery to a minimum and save time. A Ford will assist you in doing these two things.

If your tractor runs short of gasoline, the Ford will bring a few cans right to the spot and greatly shorten the delay. Or if you need a repair, or some new plow points, you can "run" the errand to town and back in one-third the time it would take with a horse and rig.

With a Ford you can supervise the work on your ranch much more thoroughly. You can get your mail and supplies oftener, and take more enjoyment out of prairie life. A Ford will do all these things and many more, and at the same time save you money.

The strength and endurance of the Ford has been proved the world over. It is equal to the western roads and the distances.

The Ford is the car for the Western Farmer.
